

Research with users of homeless services

The Scottish Housing Regulator protects the interests of homeless people and others who use housing services.

What we're doing

The Regulator has asked Craigforth (independent researchers) to speak to people who have used homeless services. Your feedback will help the Regulator focus on what's important for people.

How to take part

We will be visiting the service on Tuesday 27 March.

We want to talk to as many different people as possible. You can come along any time - interviews last around 10-15 minutes. If you can't make it on the day you can take part by phone.

We are visiting on:
